GREATER GLENDAL

SUGGESTION THAT BRAND BLVD. BE RENAMED GLENDAL BOULEVARD

Indeed the writer agrees perfectly with Mr. Kinnan's article "Street Numbering," in the Glendale Evening News of December 4, except in changing the name of our boulevard.

If we name it for any person, it should be Brand.

As memory goes back nearly 14 years, when to get to Los Angeles it was necessary to take the Southern Pacific San Francisco train at 6:30 a. m., the 10:35 a. m. Santa Barbara train at Tropic station, or the Terminal which ran out at 8:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m.

The more independent way at that time was to first get the nag ready and harnessed, spend about one hour driving to the city, put the animal in a boarding stable, pay twice as much for same as we do for a cash round trip, then another hour in rain or sunshine getting home. Then get off the glad rags and unhitch.

There were car lines in every other direction. Our people were unanimous and had worked long and faithfully for a car line without success.

Then came one L. C. Brand, who promoted the P. E. R. R. working shoulder to shoulder with our people. Well do Mrs. Imler and the writer remember the first meeting in our homes. Now we have cause to be justly proud of our line, the cars and the service.

Every loyal citizen watched the building of the line with feelings not easily expressed. The cars were delivered when the line was complete at the Tropic station on a Saturday night, and the writer's family, ages ranging from six months to 86 years, were there to lay loving hands on them as soon as the engine left. In the night these cars were worked over on the electric track. Sunday all the eight members of the family made the trip, attending a lecture at Hazard's pavilion in the afternoon, (where Clune's Auditorium is now.) The car line ended for a time at Sixth street and Figueroa. On the southeast corner of these streets were once the barns of the horse cars of Los Angeles lines. All cars stopped there.

Later on our Glendale line ran down to Seventh and on to the S. P. depot at Fifth street.

Now let us go back to the Brand boulevard question.

Some time ago there was a committee of earnest people of Tropic, Glendale and Los Angeles, who decided on a name, a name that means so much, a good name, but owing to the fact that there were some who pre-judged, it was dropped. Now we are one city, whose aims are for the one good. What blesses one blesses all. We know public opinion controls things and I am sure the helpful friends on the avenue will be glad to give up their name, and what name is more appropriate than—"Glendale Boulevard."

MRS. E. W. RICHARDSON.

CONSERVATION BIRTHDAY

Mrs. F. E. Alexander, of the Glendale studio, was surprised on Sunday, December 2nd, her birthday, with a visit from her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Flick, of Covina who, with Mr. Flick and their daughter, Miss Alayne, motored over with some exceptional and most acceptable birthday treats. Among the gifts were some especially fitting in these times of conservation, brought from the Flick's own ranch. They included, a sack of potatoes, a sack of mixed green vegetables, a small sized sack of beans, some dozens of eggs and last but not least, a chicken already prepared for the table. Mrs. Alexander is the envy of her less fortunate friends who, even on birthdays, are not favored with conservation of such a practical and productive nature.

HIGH SCHOOL P-T. A.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the G. U. H. S. held a most interesting afternoon session at the High School on Monday with Miss Ethel Andrus, who is the principal of the Lincoln High School and whose home is at 1459 Lomita avenue, Glendale, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Andrus, as the speaker of the day. Miss Andrus is a highly accomplished woman and a wonderful executive and her speech was full of helpful suggestions. She was also witty and entertaining and held the deep interest of her audience. There was a short business meeting and later tea was served and a social hour enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be an evening session on January 7, and promises to be one of unusual appeal to all members of the community as well as the teachers and parents.

UTOPIAN DREAMS

STARTLING IDEAS IN REGARD TO LEGAL PROFESSION ADVANCED BY O. L. KILBORN

One of Opie Read's characters who had written a popular book, was being congratulated by a friend, who said: "You pleased your readers by telling them something they didn't know." "Not so," said the author, "but by reminding them of something they did know." Kindly readers of the little sketches I have contributed to the News from time to time, have spoken to me of the pleasure taken by them in reading my articles, and I am sure it was for the reason given above. I simply reminded them of something they already know, but could not find expression for. In the following sketch and maybe two or three later ones, under the heading "Utopian Dreams," I propose to write of a state of affairs I firmly believe will prevail when the teachings of the "Man of Galilee" pervade all hearts, and I ask your indulgence for what may now seem to some of you the mildest vagaries. A careful, analyzing study may bring out features not apparent on the surface.

A Preferred Profession

I am going to preface this article with three most astounding statements, especially from the lawyer's standpoint. These are: 1. Law and justice ought to be always absolutely synonymous terms; 2. a lawyer ought to be just as anxious to bring out evidence damaging to his client as that favorable to him. ("The man is crazy," I hear my lawyer friend say, but does not this follow as a corollary of the first statement? Analyze it and see); 3. One lawyer ought to be able to impartially conduct both sides of a case and insure that justice be done.

My first proposition requires no proof for it is axiomatic. And if my first is true why not the second? You say "The lawyer takes his client's case with the positive obligation to win it. If he does not exert every effort to win, he is false to his client and has taken his money without giving him value received, and is thereby a swindler." This mode of reasoning is used even if the lawyer knows his client is guilty or has many good reasons for so believing. But let us apply this to some other professions—say that of the newspaper publisher. If the editor takes a man's money to advocate a cause he knows is unjust, he is denounced as having been bribed. If he persists in defending the cause of the man whose money he has taken he becomes the subject of scorn and contempt. Why? Has he not the same right to defend the known robber, murderer, slanderer, debaucher or swindler, for money, that the lawyer has? But the newspaper that persistently defends an unworthy cause for money, is looked upon as having been bribed. The intent of nearly all laws is to bring about justice. Every legal code is founded on the Mosaic law and I defy the most blatant infidel to point to any portion of that great law that even hints at anything but absolute justice. Then, if law means justice, a legal trial should be for the purpose of bringing out all the evidence bearing on the case, no matter who it hits. In that way, and that way only, can absolute justice prevail. But the average lawyer puts winning his case far ahead of obtaining justice. And he is not wholly to blame, for does not the general public laud to the skies the attorney who wins the most difficult cases? These difficult cases are generally those in which the accused is guilty. Why

SURPRISE ARMY WEDDING

Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, of 1457 Milford street, with her daughter, Miss Lillian, have returned from San Diego where they had been visiting since before Thanksgiving with Corporal Lewis Leppelman, of Battery F, at Camp Kearny and his bride, who was Miss Alpha Clements, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clements, of 1321 North Pacific avenue, Casa Verdugo. Mr. Leppelman, who also spent Thanksgiving with the young couple, returned immediately after. Corporal and Mrs. Leppelman were married on November 24th at the home of the Christian minister in San Diego, their marriage at this time coming as a surprise to their friends, though their engagement had been announced some time previously. The bride had been the guest of a friend, Mrs. Skinner, of Chula Vista, a suburb of San Diego, for a few weeks past. She is expected this week at the home of her parents where she will be joined at Christmas by her husband. Further than that the plans for the young couple have not been perfected, as the boys of Battery F may be sent east shortly after the holidays.

CITY OF HALIFAX ON FIRE

EXPLOSION ON MUNITIONS SHIP CAUSES DESTRUCTION OF LIFE AND PROPERTY IN NOVA SCOTIA PORT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMHERST, Nova Scotia, December 6.—Hundreds are dead in Halifax, hundreds of buildings demolished and sections of the city are in flames as a result of the collision of an American munitions ship and a British cruiser in the narrows near the suburb of Richmond this morning.

The crews of both vessels are dead it is believed. No definite estimate of the number of dead and injured can be made although it is believed there were at least 400 killed and one report put the number at 1000.

The force of the explosion hurled freight cars a dozen yards or more from the track. Scores are believed to be buried under the wreckage of the station, which is now in flames. Doctors and nurses are being rushed to the stricken city.

"The city of Halifax is afire," said one dispatch. The fire is spreading and authorities are sending special trains from Moncton with fire apparatus. The train is also picking up all available fire apparatus between Moncton and Halifax and rushing it to the latter city.

The north end of the city is one mass of wreckage and dead. According to later dispatches, the munitions ship caught fire. Her crew remained bravely aboard endeavoring to extinguish the flames before the explosion.

Private Wm. W. Grove, Georgetown, Cal., Engineers, died of measles and pneumonia.

Private Harvey W. Ramey, Syracuse, N. Y., marine corps, died of heart disease.

HAIG REPORTS SLIGHT ADVANCE

ANNOUNCES ALSO WITHDRAWAL SHORT DISTANCE FOR READJUSTMENT OF BRITISH LINES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, December 6.—British lines southwest of Larequer advanced slightly, Field Marshal Haig reported today. Haig admitted, however, another withdrawal for a "short distance" in the neighborhood of Royal Surlescat and Bourlon Wood. This withdrawal, he stated, is in keeping with the announced intention of the British to "readjust their lines slightly."

BRITISH BRING DOWN ENEMY PLANES

CREWS OF TWO GERMAN AEROPLANES TAKEN IN RAID OF LONDON AND KENT THIS MORNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, December 6.—Twenty-five enemy aeroplanes made five simultaneous bombing attacks on London and Kent this morning, Lord French announced. Two enemy planes were forced to land and their crews were taken alive. There were three men to each plane, indicating that the Germans are now using their latest type of Gotha planes.

WOULD MAKE WOMEN ELIGIBLE TO ENLIST

COMMISSIONS IN AVIATION SERVICE MAY BE ISSUED TO WOMEN IF BILL PASSES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 6.—Representative Hurlburt of New York introduced a bill in the House this morning to make women eligible for enlistment in the army for any service the Secretary of War might designate. The bill also provides that women may receive commissions in the aviation service.

ENGLAND PUTS O. K. ON MOVIES

EMINENT MEN OF BRITAIN AFTER INVESTIGATION SAY ABOLITION OF PICTURE HOUSE IMPOSSIBLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 6.—England took a day off from the war recently to find out what it's doing to the movies and what the movies are doing to it. The results slid quietly into Washington's musty official records today and went to sleep forever.

CONSOLIDATION ISSUES

ADVISORY COMMISSION IS SUGGESTED TO ADJUST SUCH MATTERS

As the consolidation of Tropic and Glendale will involve many delicate adjustments in matters which are outside the regular departments in which a settled policy has been established, trustees of the Jewel City are considering the appointment of a joint advisory commission made up of ten citizens from each municipality who shall be appointed by the respective Boards of Trustees before consolidation is effected. If appointed, one of the questions which will probably be referred to this body for consideration and recommendation will be the matter of re-naming and re-numbering streets. All are agreed that considerable change along this line will have to be made, but it is a ticklish subject and one in which no cautious board of trustees would wish to take the initiative. Already the question is assuming considerable importance in the public mind. Glendale citizens have spoken in print. Tropic residents are talking among themselves. Sam Davis, the fuel merchant, who is a betwixt and a between—doing business in Tropic and living in Glendale—favors a change in the nomenclature of what is now Brand boulevard to some name that would be acceptable for its entire length. It ceases to be Brand boulevard soon after it leaves the Tropic limits, becoming "Lake Shore" and then undergoes other changes. He urges that it be called "Union boulevard" to signify that it links the communities through which it passes. Dan Campbell, the banker, who also does business in Tropic and lives in Casa Verdugo, objects to any changes in established north and south thoroughfares which traverse the two cities under the same name. The titles of streets, in his opinion, should not be changed except where there are duplications which may lead to confusion. He admits that renumbering is imperative.

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the country" and if there are objectors to the names of the streets on which they live, it is a good time to speak up while the speaking is good.

Another matter likely to be referred to the Advisory Commission, if it comes into existence, is how a bond issue to purchase the water system of Tropic, shall be distributed—as a district proposition or over the city as a whole. City Manager Watson, when interviewed, was inclined to think the district plan would be adopted, first, because he considers it a matter which Tropic residents should decide by their direct vote, second, because Mr. Brand has expressed his willingness to take district bonds in payment for the system.

Mr. Watson strongly favors the commission because he argues, it would be more fair and courteous to Tropic to invite her to express herself through such a conference than to turn all the issues over to the Glendale Board of Trustees for arbitrary ruling.

WELCOMED TO EAGLE ROCK

At the urgent request of members of the Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock, Mrs. Pearl Keller has organized a dancing class for children which meets at the club house in that city. At the first lesson, which was given Tuesday, 17 pupils presented themselves, and she is promised a class of 30. They will be invited to participate in the Christmas festival which she is giving at Butler's Hall on the 22d, and which will be limited to parents and pupils. A regular orchestra will furnish the music and some very pretty program numbers will be given including several by the smaller pupils. The Christmas party of the Keller school is an annual event to which all her pupils look forward.

STILL LOVES THE EAST

Mrs. Henry B. Beckman and daughter Pearl, of 447 South Belmont, and Mrs. H. H. Storrs, motored to Long Beach Wednesday and spent a very pleasant day visiting with relatives and old friends who are residents of the beach city. Miss Pearl remained for a longer visit. The Beckman family plans to take in the South Dakota picnic which comes off at Long Beach next Saturday. Though they came to California direct from South Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Beckman are natives of Iowa, to which their hearts are still true in spite of the fact that they have adopted California as their permanent home and are boosters for the Golden West. They also lived in Southern Minnesota for five years and have so many friends in that State that they enjoy attending the Minnesota picnic.

GOVERNOR IN TOWN

WILL SPEAK AT HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM SATURDAY EVENING

The people from the East and Midwest will remember the significance placed upon the event of the Governor of the State coming to their home city or village. A visit from the head executive of the state was an important affair in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, or any other state.

Now, the Governor of the State of California is coming to Glendale Saturday of this week and will speak in the auditorium of the High School, Saturday evening. Hurrah for this big event. Three cheers for Governor Stephens. The High School band and the Glendale Municipal band will be out to add enthusiasm—the Red Cross, the City Trustees—all the people of Glendale and vicinity will be present to say hello, Governor Stephens.

CO. 9 EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

9th Company, Los Angeles, Coast Artillery Corps, Reservation Point, Ft. MacArthur, Calif.

December 4, 1917.

The Editor, Glendale Evening News, Glendale, Calif.

Dear Sir:—On behalf of the 9th Company, L. A. C. A. C. and myself, I want to express, through your paper, our appreciation and thanks for the good time we had, and the generous and big hearted manner with which we were treated by the people of Glendale on Thanksgiving day.

It was a "homecoming" for a great many of the boys, but those whose homes are far away from here were made to feel at home from the moment they arrived until it was time to leave, in fact one of them admits that he had three invitations to dinner, and was disappointed because he could only accept one of them. This is only one instance of the hospitality shown us, but it typifies the spirit by which we were met by the whole town and makes us glad we are "doing our bit." We have only one regret—Thanksgiving comes but once a year.

Yours very truly,
DRU W. NICOLLES,
2nd Lieut. C. C. A.
Commanding Company.

RESPONSIBILITY OF REGISTRANTS

The fact that the burden of responsibility rests upon the registrant and not upon the government, is being emphasized by F. D. Lanterman of District Exemption Board No. 7, at the headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building. Government regulations are as rigid as the laws of the Medes and Persians and "reasonable excuses" have no part in its classification under the Questionnaire. Failure to receive a copy of the Questionnaire will not relieve the registrant from the obligation to present himself before the board within seven days after the document has been mailed to him, nor will it protect him from the severe penalties prescribed for those who fail to respond. It therefore behooves all men whose names are on the original draft list and who are not already in service at army camps, to get in touch with the Board and watch for their summons.

As the Questionnaire is quite voluminous and complicated, the government has provided a number of volunteer attorneys whose business it will be to furnish all information and guidance any registrant may require to correctly fill out his Questionnaire. These attorneys will be located in Glendale and due notice of their headquarters will be given.

HUNTING TRIP

For a long time a group of business and professional men of Glendale have been looking forward to a hunting trip to Owens Lake at the head of the aqueduct. It has finally been arranged and they leave tomorrow, Friday, at 3 o'clock for a 230-mile run in Mr. Fanset's Cadillac 8. They go in quest of ducks and will be absent for several days. The party will include Dr. F. G. Stone, John Fanset, Hugh Cornwell, Roy Hinchcliff, and possibly Roger Brown. He very much wants to go but may not be able to get away on account of pressure of business connected with the prospective telephone merger.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

The Sunday School committees of the Tropic Methodist church who will have charge of the Christmas festivities, are at work upon the program, which will be given Christmas eve and which will be in the nature of a gift service.

GLENDALE SENTINEL-PROGRESS

The above caption represents the name of the weekly newspaper that is now published in Glendale by the merging of the Tropico Sentinel with the Tri-City Progress, which has been published from the Evening News office for more than four years. This publication is a continuation of the Tri-City Progress, with the hyphenated "Tri-City" changed to Sentinel. This taking over of the Sentinel adds substantially to the subscription list of this very popular weekly paper. The Glendale Sentinel-Progress is a very suitable Glendale paper to send to the absent soldier boys. The subscription price until January 1, 1918, is $1.00, payable in advance. After January 1 the regular subscription of $1.50 per year will be charged.

FOR THE GOOD OF GLENDALE COMMUNITY BUSINESS

There is nothing that can take the place of good, healthy, honest newspaper publicity when it comes to promoting business. The newspaper advertising medium to be of the greatest possible service must have circulation and it must have the respect of the people of the community.

The Evening News, daily, and the Glendale Sentinel-Progress, weekly, have the qualifications as to broad circulation, and the question of these publications having the respect of the local reading public will be left to the readers who are amply able to judge as to the standing of the publications concerned in this community.

All business concerns of Glendale should act as a unit on the publicity question, and every one should do his part in carrying out the publicity program.

Mr. Merchant, if you are a real live one, arouse to action, not for the purpose of placing money in the pockets of the publisher of the Evening News and the Glendale Sentinel-Progress, but for the purpose of getting a more firm grasp on the patronage of a well-to-do class of citizens.

Glendale is growing in population. With Tropico annexed we are safe in placing the number of residents at 12,000. It is the purpose of the management of these combined papers to keep up with the progress being made in this section of the Valley.

The Evening News plant is not for sale, for rent, or for trade,—it is in the building-up process, and the building is going on steadily and surely. Only desirable business is wanted—business that is backed by honest merchants who stand ready at all times to give their customers a square deal.

PREPARING FOR GARDENS

Vacant ground ought to be put into shape now for garden making next spring, urges a recent bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington.

If vacant grounds are more or less littered with tin cans, stones, bottles, etc., these should all be carted off and all brush, briars and weeds should be cut and removed unless they can be plowed under. These unused lots, especially if clay, are likely to be more or less acid and foul.

The best treatment to get such land into shape is to plow it this fall and leave it rough without harrowing or cultivating. If manure is available it may be spread and plowed under so as to be decayed and in such shape that the vegetable crops may be used next year.

Do not use lime this fall to sweeten these sour soils because it will only be wasted. Wait until spring and then plow or spade up the ground again, then spread air-slaked lime, at the rate of one pound to forty square feet of surface, and cultivate or rake it in.

What has just been said refers to heavy clay soils, particularly, but the clay loams and sandy loams had better be handled in the same way so as to have the surface clean and the weeds and other rubbish turned under and decaying during the winter so that this may also be food for the garden plants in the spring.

ADVICE TO THE FOLKS AT HOME

The first few weeks in camp are the hardest for the young soldier. It is a violent wrench from home life and normal social ties to camp conditions with tent-life, radical change of food, limited bathing facilities, stiff drill and rigid discipline.

To tide the lad over this period, home folks may help very materially. His mail is the big thing for the boy in camp. Each day send him some greeting or some love token, be it ever so small. The problem of laundry is sometimes difficult, so send him a handkerchief today and a pair of good socks tomorrow, and repeat now and then. He has a sweet tooth—satisfy it with candy and chocolate, in small lots only, each piece wrapped in oiled paper that it may not reach him a sticky mess. He will chew gum on a march, which helps him to refrain from drinking too much water and from dipping into his lunch or ration; this also has a tendency to make him smoke much less and keep him from taking up the habit of chewing tobacco. He will, after a little experience, take pure chocolate with him on a hike, as it seems to keep a man up better than other food, and is easily carried.

His tent is not lighted, so if you can provide a small, pocket flashlight, you may solve the problem of him finding things at night. Because bathing facilities are sometimes very limited, a good, big bath sponge is appreciated, and you may follow it with a cake of good soap and a towel now and then.

It is hard to get to the post-office, and pennies for postage may be few, so send him a book of stamps. He likes to read, so mark the interesting items in the home paper, and with it send him an occasional magazine or illustrated weekly. Bound books are not usually desired in camp.

He needs all of the ordinary toilet articles, but do not send talcum powder, tooth-paste, shaving-cream, razor blades, tooth-brush and soap all the same day—an item each mail is better. Put a small package of court-plaster in your next letter. He has been in the sun, and a little mentholatum or camphor-ice will soothe parched lips.

He will enjoy a Testament or prayer-book, and especially one

REPORT OF SALVAGE DEPARTMENT

On Saturday, November 24, the newspapers were collected throughout Glendale and a splendid collection it was. There were nearly half again as many papers as ever before, yet there were houses on our list that were missed. It seems a simple thing to those who have never tried it to stop at every number on a slip of paper, but it is really very hard unless one is very familiar with the route and up to this collection we have been unable to have a captain of each district who could hold himself responsible for it. Now we will be able to be much more accurate and reliable.

Next week we will announce the districts and the captains of each with their lieutenants.

Saturday, December 8, we again collect and we shall do our best to miss no one.

of the khaki-bound ones that may be secured from the American Bible Society. If he did not take his watch, and you can afford a cheap wrist-watch, send it. A pair of heavy tan laces to replace worn ones that permit his shoes to be sloppy. A tiny, good, hand shaving-mirror. Half a dozen blanket safety-pins and as many ordinary large safety-pins are among the handiest things in his kit. Two or three small wash-rags—a sort that can be easily cleaned in a small amount of water and that do not take too long to dry.

Parcel-post solves the problem of sending small packages safely. Address plainly and fully, with the number of his regiment and the letter of his company, troop or battery, and delivery is almost absolutely assured, though he moves from place to place very often. Insure the more valuable articles—it costs but a trifle.

Now, do not put it all in one bundle, as being the easiest way, but string it out over days and weeks, so that he will learn to listen most eagerly for "mail call." It is pathetic to note the number of men in the service to whom the arrival of mail means nothing. Carelessness or wrong-doing separates them from home and loved ones, so they get no mail. Do not let the soldier man from your home circle be of this group.—Maj. John T. Axton, U. S. A., in the Advance.

QUARTETTE TONIGHT

Rarely have special meetings brought together a richer array of musical talent than those in progress at the Baptist church at this time. In addition to the sweet gospel solos of Mr. Smith, Prof. Lowinski frequently favors the audience with his delightful violin specialties, as he did last night. To cap the climax, Prof. Bertrand, the teacher of music at the Bible Institute in the city, was again present and sang an original song of rare sweetness and with most effective expression.

Mr. Smith preached another powerful sermon on the theme, "The Height of God's Mercy," and promises another thrilling message tonight.

The South Park Quartette will also be present, and sing several times during the evening. There is a rich treat in store for those fortunate enough to be present and a great blessing for those interested in spiritual things. The public is cordially invited.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU

An enthusiastic meeting in the interest of the County Farm Bureau was held on Monday evening, December 3d, in the school house of La Canada. The attendance was good and five places—Altadena, La Crescenta, Tujunga, Sunland and La Canada, were represented. Dr. H. J. Webber, head of the Experiment Station at Riverside, and acting as County organizer, as a war measure, was present and gave a fine address on the general subject of the Farm Bureau, showing its purpose and pointing out its great advantages and its methods. He also answered many questions.

Notice was given of the meeting to be held in Blanchard Hall, Los Angeles next Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock to complete the county organization provided a sufficient number of members can be secured by that time. It is quite desirable that a great many people should attend that meeting and cooperate with the movement. The benefits to the farmers and the nation will be untold, not only in time of this world war but afterwards in time of peace. This movement is in line with the very best developments of our social life—namely those of mutual helpfulness and cooperation.

Nineteen counties of this state already have been organized and the farm advisers have been doing effective work in their respective counties.

The joint committee who had the meeting in charge, and who have secured a large number of names of those who are ready to unite with the organization, is composed of the following men: A. C. Knight, S. Stone, P. H. Johnson, S. D. Percy, A. G. Williams, H. S. Bissell, Harry Hayman, L. L. Lang.

SLEEPING ON THE JOB

The section foreman sent one of his men to the car for a tamping bar. The man failed to return and after a decent interval the foreman went to see what was the matter. He found the man fast asleep under a tree.

Eyeing him with a stern smile, the foreman said:
"Slape on, ye idle spalpeen—slape on; while ye slape, ye've got a job, but whin ye wake up ye're out of wurk!"

When will the war close? That is a question that is beyond the knowledge of any human being living at the present time.

G. Hunchberger who motored over for them. Miss Lenora Miles, who lives at Ramona, Cal., was also included in the party as they were the guest of Miss Wight. They are enjoying school hugely but look forward with joy to their next holiday trip home which will be December 20.

Mrs. M. J. Rogers, mother of C. E. Rogers, of 129 East Fifth street, who has for the past three months been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, left on Sunday for Dallas, Texas, where she has gone to settle up her estate. She is deeply in love with California and especially with Glendale and hopes to return in a few months and build a permanent home here. This was her first visit to the state though the traditions of the family are deeply Californian, an uncle, Joseph Sturdevant, having been one of the famous "forty-niners," and later a well known and wealthy man always particularly loyal to the place of his adoption.

Miss Ethel Hutchinson, of Fifty-second street, Los Angeles, was a dinner guest on Wednesday evening of the Misses Bessie and Emily Van Osdoll at their home, 253 North Central avenue.

Mrs. George Reeves with her small son, Billy, motored over from their home at Van Nuys on Wednesday, to spend the day with Mrs. Joseph V. Griffin, of 135 West Acacia avenue, and her two little sons, James and Jack.

Mrs. R. H. Wells entertained on Tuesday afternoon at her home, 1504 West Broadway, the ladies and friends of the Third street Episcopal congregation. The afternoon was spent socially and with the ever present Red Cross work. Afternoon tea was very daintily served and all felt that the time had been devoted with great advantage and enjoyment. Lovely chrysanthemums were artistically arranged to make the house pretty and festive.

Mrs. Edith Elrod, formerly of 1114½ West Broadway, who, with her son, Master Kenneth, has recently returned from a trip through the east, has now moved to 1557 Myrtle street. During the time of their absence, less than a month, Mrs. Elrod and Kenneth kept up the interesting game, highly diverting to the little boy, of recording the miles traveled, which proved to be some 6,223. They visited Dallas and different parts of Texas, Kansas, St. Louis, and a number of places through Illinois, stopping with friends and relatives and enjoying a fine vacation. Little Kenneth made many friends among the soldier boys he met on his travels and is now in active correspondence with Corporal Frank Moore, who is stationed at Columbus and who was a train acquaintance. The little boy is five years of age.

PATRIOTIC DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baker entertained at their home, 109 North Maryland avenue, for dinner on Wednesday evening, Captain and Mrs. A. B. Wadingham and their two children, Miss Mina and Master Frederick. Captain Wadingham, of the U. S. Engineer Reserve Corps, has been stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he has been in training and has now joined his family in Los Angeles while on a temporary leave of absence. He does not know as yet where he will be sent next. The dinner in his honor was both delicious and beautiful as the decorations were exceptionally artistic in the use of patriotic colors and emblems. Red, white and blue flowers were arranged low in a flat glass bowl in the center of the table, from the middle of which rose a tall stem of cut glass, a slender vase bearing two flags, the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack. From among the flowers at the base there floated tiny silk flags of all the allies, the effect being lovely and inspiring. Mr. Baker and Captain Wadingham have long been very dear friends and the occasion was greatly enjoyed by all.

EPWORTH LEAGUE DRIVE

The Epworth Leagues of the First Methodist Church Glendale, West Glendale, Casa Verdugo, Tropic and Eagle Rock comprise what is known as the Glendale Sub-District of the Pasadena District. Recently the following Glendale Sub-District officers were elected:

President, Miss B. Wood, First Church.
Vice President, G. L. Gustin, of Eagle Rock.
Secretary, D. E. Johnston, West Glendale.

Treasurer, I. C. Rice, Casa Verdugo.
At a meeting of the Sub-District Cabinet on Monday evening it was decided to launch "a drive" in the community of each of these churches to ascertain the young people of High School age who are not attending or are not members of the Epworth League, Christian Endeavor, or Baptist Young Peoples' Union, and follow a systematic plan to endeavor to have such young people attend some of these organizations. It was decided to have an exchange of leaders in the Leagues of the Sub-District on Sunday evening, December 16 to arouse enthusiasm in the "drive." Leaders from West Glendale League will speak at Eagle Rock, Casa Verdugo leaders go to West Glendale, Eagle Rock to First Church, Glendale, First Church to Tropic, and Tropic to Casa Verdugo.

It is expected that the young peoples' societies of the different denominations will be helped in this "drive." Be a Booster!

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. Westerly winds.

LETTERS FROM SUBMARINE BASE

Mrs. H. H. Dreyer, of 214 Cedar street, has received some very interesting letters from her son, Henry, who is now stationed at Coco Solo, a submarine base at the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal. Henry is the younger of the two Dreyer boys, 17 and 19 years of age, who are in the Naval service. William is still at the training station at Mare Island. In October Henry wrote telling of the trip down from Mare Island and his first impressions at the Panama Canal station. Among other things, he says:

"Everything is nice and green and I like it here. We can get all the coconuts we want as there are a lot of coconut trees around here and bananas cost only ten cents a dozen. It was a very nice trip coming through the canal. It sure looked good to see everything so nice and green after being out at sea for eleven days, out of sight of land most of the time. We made the trip on the U. S. S. Buffalo. We sure had to work some, too. We had to scrub decks, holy-stone decks, wash paint work and do all kinds of things like that. To holy-stone you take sticks with bricks on the ends of them, then sprinkle sand on the decks and rub it in with the bricks. It is pretty hard work. We scrubbed the decks with scrub brushes on the end of sticks. The hardest job, though, was coaling the ship. The coal ran down into the hold through chutes, and we had to take wheel barrows and haul the coal back where it was stored. Some of us shovelled it onto the wheelbarrows while others wheeled them. We got as black as negroes almost before we started. We coaled at California City, near San Francisco, at the beginning of our voyage.

"The Buffalo is a large transport ship. Besides the regular crew and about 75 of us seamen and firemen, there were 540 marines being transported, so we were pretty crowded.

"We get fine food here and every afternoon we knock off work at 3:30 o'clock and go in swimming. We have a fine place to swim. We get Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday off and do not have to do anything. We do not do any drilling here as this is a submarine base and not a training station. We do different jobs, such as hauling provisions, gravel and such things.

"There are five submarines here at present. We wear dungarees and blue shirts now, so we do not have so much washing to do as when we wore white. Dungarees are pants made out of the same material as overalls."

In one of his more recent letters he added further interesting descriptions of camp life at this tropic submarine base. He says:

"We still go in swimming about every day and certainly enjoy it. I qualified as an expert swimmer day before yesterday. That is part of the first class seaman examination, so it gave me some satisfaction. I still am a mess cook and am still going to a seaman school. I think we will have an examination Monday.

"We have lots of rain here and it never seems to get cold. It is always pretty warm but never seems to get hot. We have a movie show here every Monday, Wednesday and Friday and they are good pictures, too."

BIRTHDAY LUNCH

(Contributed)

W. D. Lathrop (a veteran living alone at his home, 1509 Hawthorne) on his 74th birthday, December 4, got up an old fashioned New England fish chowder, all by his lonesome. His guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Anderson and their sons Thomas and Ralph, also Mrs. D. F. Tabor and son Lincoln. As chowder was about the only thing on the menu they had to fill up on it and we guess they did. They say, old Lathrop "takes the whole bake shop" in making fish chowder.

GLENDAL W. C. T. U.

OLD TIME BALLAD SINGING

By SAMUEL PARKER

You would scarce have entered a house in village, city or rural crossroads neighborhood, containing a great or lesser number of children of schoolable age in 1850 and a few following years without hearing more or less of effort at song, usually of the ballad type. Not always in exact time or emphasis or shading, but if lacking in some of the finer touches, the vocalists "made good" in other directions. The benefit came to the public for in this "community way" almost everybody could sing and they did.

It is worthy of note here that these songs and the tunes used in most cases, were carried from state to state all through the fast developing west; not in the books with the printed words and music score—that being before this present-day of bookdom. Of course, all the words and tunes used in any general way, were in the books or on paper somewhere, somewhere, but the west was full of good ballad singers—yea, and hymns, too—who carried them in memory ready for instant use, that never saw the words or the music in print.

A song to which the memory attaches readily, be it pathetic or a hymn, is apt to have a touch of feeling somewhere along the line and the song here presented, copied from memory, has been sung by multitudes who never saw the words or copy of the "air". I am not sure that I ever did, and yet I could repeat the words, and most all the time during the last 70 years, make some effort to sing the same barring professional acsing.

Dead Mother and Child

The night was dark and fearful
The blast swept wailing by.
A mother pale and tearful
Looked forth with anxious eye,
How wistfully she gazeth,
No gleam of morn was there,
Her eyes to heaven she raiseth
In agony of prayer.

Within that cottage lonely,
Where want and sorrow reign,
A mother's child—her only
Lies moaning in his pain—
And death alone can free him
She feels that this must be,
But "Oh for light to see him
Gaze once again on me."

An hundred lamps are glancing
In yonder mansion fair
And merry feet are dancing
They heed not mourning there.
Oh young and joyous creatures,
One lamp from out your store
Would give the baby's features
To his mother's gaze once more.

The morning sun is shining,
She heedeth not its ray,
Beside her dead reclining—
The pale dead mother lay.
A smile her lips were wreathing—
A smile of hope and love,
As though she still were breathing
"There's light for us above."

RED CROSS BAZAAR, DEC. 14

Arrangements for the Red Cross Bazaar, of Glendale, at Elk's Club rooms, Friday, December 14 are rapidly nearing completion. All ladies who have agreed to donate any articles are requested to have same at the Red Cross rooms, or notify Mrs. Geo. A. Whitaker, telephone Glendale 1387-W.

Donations are requested from those willing, for the purchase of a large doll to dress for the Doll's Booth at the Bazaar. Also donations are requested of smaller dolls, any size, for the booth.
Fancy work under process of making should be finished as soon as possible, and left at the Red Cross rooms, or the chairman notified.

There will also be served at the bazaar a chicken dinner, under the management of the same able ladies who have been serving the Business Men's dinners recently. This will be served at 6 p. m. and all are urged to take advantage of this dinner, the entire proceeds of which are donated to the Red Cross Society.

Booths will be made for display of fancy goods, dolls, flowers, sugarless candies, baby articles, caps, aprons, and White Elephant booth.

The White Elephant booth is an institution suggested by the chairman and donations for this booth give the residents of Glendale and surrounding towns a chance to relieve themselves of any article which is too good to throw away, yet might be of value to someone else, and the proceeds from its sale, large or small, helps boost business and the receipts for Glendale Chapter of Red Cross.

Get your donations ready, leave them at the Red Cross rooms, or notify the chairman, who will call.

No donations too small or too large for this bazaar, and may include anything which might bring an extra nickel for Red Cross work. Vegetables, poultry, flowers, fancy work, fruits, dolls or any other articles.

THE LURE OF THE IMPERIAL

William Gould, City Marshal of Tropic, Chauncey K. Lake and Jos. McFeeters, left Tuesday for Imperial Valley to investigate prospects in regard to securing government land under the All-American Canal Irrigation Project. This is being put through by the United States government for the purpose of increasing the productive area in that rich district. The land which will be thus brought under water lies east of El Centro and Holtville. It will be remembered that Wesley Bullis and his brother-in-law, O. B. Spear, of Tropic, made a trip to the region a short time ago. They are very enthusiastic over its farming possibilities and Mr. Bullis plans to take up a homestead claim there. Other men are interested and it is quite possible a small Tropic colony may be established there. Mr. Bullis is taking the place of Marshal Gould at the City Hall during his absence.

DINNER AND CARD PARTY

Wednesday evening Mrs. Don Erskine, of Blanche avenue, Tropic, entertained with a course dinner in celebration of the birthday of her husband. A pink and green color scheme was carried out in roses and smilax which centered the table, and in other dainty appointments of feast. Covers were laid for ten, the guest list including Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Masters, Miss Mary Erskine, Miss Hazel Ulbright, Arthur Collins and Miss Dorothy Erskine.

After the dinner guests gathered about the card tables and played Five Hundred, ending the evening's entertainment with an informal musical program.

QUARANTINED WITH MEASLES

An outbreak of measles with resulting quarantine which has lasted for several weeks, has imposed considerable hardship on boys in the aviation camp at Belleville, Illinois, where Will Hewett, of Tropic, is stationed. His company is not allowed to take its usual outside recreation and life is dull for the flying squadron.

LA CANADA

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett and Miss Fannie Jewett attended the "Navy Circus" at San Pedro on November 28. They reported a fine time and a big crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Selleck, of La Canada, boulevard, went to Ventura in their new roadster last week and are off again this week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Johnston enjoyed a trip to Santa Barbara recently.

A. G. Williams, Chas. Pate, Mr. Forrester and Max Green took a long hike the last of November. They went to Tujunga, Hoyt's ranch, and came out by way of Colby's. Great!

Dr. Victor Saphro and Dr. Elisabeth Saphro have moved to San Francisco, which promises a great field for their practice. Their home here is for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, of Oakland, were looking at the Doctors Saphro property. They were much impressed with the beauty of the outlook, but want a larger place.

Mrs. Edwin Cooper, nee Green, is teaching at McKinley school, Pasadena, where she expects to remain until the Christmas vacation.

Harry White is now agent for the Studebaker.

Miss Lowe, the British nurse who spoke here, was heard Thursday at La Crescenta.

Fenton Knight, designed, painted and donated a series of Christmas cards for Red Cross sale. They were so original and attractive that Douglas Donaldson, of Los Angeles, has begged the use of the plates for Christmas trade in the city.

La Canada is to have its first municipal Christmas tree. The evening of December 22 has been selected. Please extend this notice to everyone in the valley. It is a community tree. Everyone help, enthusiasm helps. Help in any and every way, you can to make it a success. It is not your tree or my tree alone, it is our tree. Stand behind the committees with aid and encouragement. A good start has been made. Mrs. Wilbur Seeright is general manager.

What do you think of having a Service Flag? We have so many at the front and in camps in the army, navy and aerial corps that we might honor them in this way.

The P.-T. A. holds its next meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hamilton, of Pasadena, speaks on "Playgrounds and Apparatus for the Same." Everyone is invited.

The Navy League, to obtain wool, has arranged with the Strand Theatre, of Pasadena, for a benefit performance. The pictures shown will be "Battle Scenes on the Aisne." Afternoon and evening of Monday, December 10. Admission, including war tax, 25 cents.

The kitchen at the school house, has recently been equipped with an A1 electric range.

The Secretaries' Association of Southern California, meets at the Chamber of Commerce, 130 Broadway, Los Angeles on Saturday, Dec. 8 at 10 a. m. Six strong talks will be made. One on "How to Talk," by a voice specialist. Another subject is, "Dignifying the Profession of Secretary." The latter will be made plain by one of our valley men, W. T. Selleck.

Several new cars are noticed in our midst. The William Jewett's have an Oakland light six; the Jay Schiefelins, a Buick; and Wesley Selleck's an Overland roadster.

When the gutter along the Riggs acreage is completed, La Canada boulevard will be ready for the winter rains, in good condition for most of its length.

Mr. and Mrs. Christy, who formerly owned property on Hilliard avenue and other places, were in the valley recently. They regret having parted with their acreage here. It seemed so beautiful. Never mind, there are a few bits yet for sale.

The Thanksgiving tennis meet at the Los Angeles Country Club was very interesting. Former national champion three times, Miss Mary Browne and Mrs. Williams were victors. These two ladies have been national doubles champions.

The engagement of Miss Blanche Woodhill, of La Canada, to Lieut. William Dunlap is announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston took charge of the program after the business, at the last Improvement association meeting. They showed many beautiful pictures of London, Paris and Venice. These cities are especially interesting because of the war situation. History is making rapidly. Many men who are much to the front in world affairs have homes in these cities.

Some homes were made happier and hearts lighter by the return from Camp Kearny and Ft. McArthur and the naval station at San Pedro, of Edwin and Robert Cooper and Fitch Jewett for Thanksgiving celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Guidinger, now of San Fernando, entertained 22 at dinner Thanksgiving day.

Montrose hill is slippery and unsafe for horses.

The Farm Bureau meeting was held at the school house Monday evening. Forty were present to hear Mr. Weber, of the Riverside Experiment station and to plan for a Farm Adviser for Los Angeles county.

After election of officers and other business is completed at the next Improvement meeting, a community Sing will be held. Come, come and sing. If you can't sing except in your heart, do that and make an attempt with your voice anyway. Old time favorites will be sung. Everyone come. There'll be a welcome for all. Co-operation and enthusiasm are the slogans.

Red Cross workers have been meeting on Friday afternoons. The regular meeting on Tuesday was well attended in the afternoon. A number of ladies spent the entire day at work. In the afternoon the monthly exchange of food, etc., was held in one part of the room. About $9 was realized. Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Selleck and Mrs. Murray served tea at 5 cents a cup. The Pasadena Red Cross, to which we belong, sent 2333 gauze dressings to France by way of New York. The French Relief sent 17,000 pieces to France through Canada. Our secretary, Mrs. Murray, had a letter from Miss Wrigley, secretary of Pasadena chapter, thanking La Canada branch for its generous contribution of 19 surgical shirts. These will be sent out by the first shipment to the American Red Cross.

Miss Hanson, who is at the head of our schools, has been called to Long Beach by the severe illness of her sister.

Miss Home is arranging a short program to entertain the parents of her pupils and Miss Hanson's scholars on Friday, December 14.

The Girls' Club meets with Mrs. Hubert Bentley on Commonwealth avenue on Friday, December 15. The girls sew for the French orphans. The crying need for garments to even cover the bodies of the children, to say nothing of the necessity of clothing for warmth, is pitiable. So girls, come, sew and make your fingers fly, for it is cold in France.

should the lawyer who, with the help of an easily influenced jury, lets loose upon the public a dangerous criminal, be accorded unstinted praise, when the common, ordinary individual who assists a far less guilty criminal to escape from jail, is execrated as a criminal himself? Yet none can deny that this is so. Do you remember Sir Gilbert Parker's great novel, "The Right of Way," where a clever lawyer is employed to defend a murderer. By suppressing certain evidence, suborning witnesses and magnifying certain testimony he secures an acquittal. But when his client approaches to thank him he says: "Don't touch me, you're guilty as hell." Yet but a few moments before he had held up this murderer before the court as a persecuted victim, an innocent, outraged citizen and with his pathetic pleading had brought tears to the eyes of many. What an arrant hypocrite? Yet he was praised and toasted as a great lawyer and great man. To my mind he was as guilty as the murderer he had turned loose upon society and was in a measure responsible for future crimes this man might commit. If I have proved my second proposition and nine people out of ten, maybe more, will say I have not, the third follows as a matter of course. For if the only intent of a trial at law is to bring out all the evidence, that absolute justice may be done, one lawyer is as good as a dozen. But said to say, the main province of the average lawyer is to twist and distort evidence, to confuse the witness and cause him to contradict himself. Any of you who followed the account of the recent libel suit in Los Angeles will bear me out in this. But it is the system and not the lawyer, who is most to blame. The lawyer is taught in office and school that his sole aim should be to win his case, if he takes the client's money. True, many a noble lawyer returns a retaining fee on discovering that his would-be client is at fault, or refuses flatly to take a shady case, but these exceptions are far too few. Speed the day when law mean justice, when witnesses are no longer browbeaten, when hurtful evidence is not suppressed by either side, when justice is sought by both sides, no matter whom it hits, and when the lawyer who deliberately, for pay, seeks to defeat justice, is frowned upon by all good people.

In expressing these sentiments I am animated by no enmity to the legal profession. I am merely voicing what I and I am sure many other people feel is a wrong attitude of mind on a matter of mighty importance. I have many valued friends in this great profession, which in my mind is the third noblest in all the realm of man's activity, none but the ministerial and medical leading it. I consider it a high honor to have numbered on my list of friends, two state supreme court justices, one of whom refused appointment to the United States Supreme Court by President Cleveland. And it was declared by those two men that they never took a case that they did not feel was a just one.

I ask a careful, dispassionate reading of the above and if you do not agree with me, I will not hold you less my friends.

O. L. KILBORN.

WILLYS HEADS RECREATION MOVEMENT

A high honor was recently paid to the head of The Willys-Overland company when President Wilson requested Mr. John N. Willys to accept the national chairmanship of the War Camp Community Recreation fund.

Mr. Willys accepted the honor.

The purpose of this fund can be no better expressed than in the words of President Wilson himself: "The spirit with which our soldiers leave America, and their efficiency on the battle fronts of Europe, will be vitally affected by the character of the environment surrounding our military training camps."

The troops that the United States will send to Europe, like the British Colonial Forces, represent a class of men such as have never before composed an army—citizen soldiers. Strict discipline is something to which these men are entirely unaccustomed. Their first thought on obtaining camp leave is to "hit the nearest town" and explore what it has to offer in the way of amusements.

The Y. M. C. A., Young Men's Hebrew Association, Knights of Columbus, American Library Association and other organizations have done a great deal to provide home comforts for the men in the camps, but the real dangers to which these boys are subjected, morally and physically, are dangers that lurk beyond the camps.

The ninety odd camps and cantonments, established throughout the country, border on small towns and cities. The facilities these towns and cities afford for healthy and wholesome amusement and entertainment in normal times cannot in any way meet the demands placed on them by the soldier boys. Naturally, therefore, the soldiers not being able to find entertainments, are apt to look for excitement, and therein they are subjected to dangers—dangers more horrible than bullets.

The War Camp Community Fund, of which Mr. Willys is the head, is to provide the right sort of environments for our soldiers in the towns and cities adjacent to the military camps. These activities will take the form of athletic fields, dancing pavilions and recreation halls, enclosed swimming pools, gymnasiums, libraries, etc., all properly equipped and in charge of competent supervisors, people who have made a life study of recreation problems in large cities.

To carry on this work a great deal of money is required, $4,000,000, in fact, and this money must be raised by public subscription. It is estimated that $3 per man will be required to carry on the work. A national campaign is now under way to raise the money.

Mr. Willys has associated with him in this work some of the leading men and women in the country. And it has been a source of keen pride to him that his personal friends in the Willys-Overland organization, and in other fields of business activities, have given the movement their personal support and aid.

TROPICO EPWORTH LEAGUE

At the regular monthly business meeting of the Epworth League of the Tropico Methodist church which was held in the social hall of the church Tuesday evening, officers were elected to fill the vacancies created by the resignations of Miss Helen Muhleman and Mrs. Charles M. Retts, third and fourth vice presidents respectively. Mrs. Chauncey K. Lake was elected third vice president, and Albert Hewett fourth vice president.

Miss Muhleman gives up the office because of pressure of her school work. Mrs. Retts is going to Phoenix, Arizona, where her husband is executing large contracts. She is an active worker in the church and will be greatly missed.

The prospective Bible study contest was discussed, but no other business was transacted.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Peter Ferry, of 536 Acacia avenue, Tropico, entertained 21 little girls last Saturday afternoon in celebration of the eleventh birthday of her daughter, Mary Alice. There was a big birthday cake with candles on it of the proper number, and presumably it was iced, in spite of Mr. Hoover. There were also other toothsome refreshments of the proper party sort, and Mary Alice received some very pretty gifts. Games were played and a general good time was enjoyed.

FIRST AIDERS PRACTICE

Tropico's First Aid Class, which met Wednesday evening at the Tropico City Hall, thoroughly enjoyed the gentle, encouraging quiz through which Doctor Mabry put the members. He began with definitions and ended with practice work in putting on the various sorts of bandages which novices are permitted to use. What they didn't know they soon found out, and before adjournment became quite proficient in the tying of surgical knots as distinguished from the objectionable "granny" knot. Interest is deepening and it promises to develop into a class of which the doctor will have reason to be proud. About 20 are now enrolled.
